Annakoot Festival - A Festival of Loving Reciprocation

Annakoot Festival is celebrated on Pacham after Diwali every year in Rajgopal Maharaj Mandir Madanpur, honours the pastime when Lord Krishn and the residents of Vrindavan worship and offer various foodstuffs to the Govardhan Hill. As per Vedic scriptures, Govardhan Hill (also known as Sri Giriraj) is considered non-different from Krishn. Throughout the year, Govardhan Hill supplies Krishn with fruits, flowers, caves, spring water, etc. and the Krishn reciprocates with Him by offering Him foodstuffs.

As part of Annakoot Puja festivities, Rajgopalji Maharaj Mandir shall begin the celebrations with Annakoot bhog on 6th November 2024 - preparing of a wonderful replica of Govardhan hill from various foodstuffs which are lovingly prepared by devotees in mandir premises. These foodstuffs are later distributed as prasad amongst devotee/ visitors. Extension to Annakoot Puja this year Akhand Ramayan Path is also recited in front of Lord Rajgopal followed by hawan and prasad.

The festival is a symbol of loving reciprocation between the Lord and His devotees. You can participate in this festival by donation to contribute for Annakoot or towards Akhand Ramayan Path - and receive unlimited blessings of Krishn.
